
Patient's Rights and Responsibilities

Rights

- You have the right to be treated with respect.
- You have the right to be treated fairly without regard to race, religion, gender, ethnicity, age, disability or sexual orientation.
- You have the right to privacy.
- Your records will not be released without your permission.
- You have the right to information in a language you can understand.
- You have a right to have your condition explained.
- You have a right to have your treatment options explained.
- You have a right to information concerning your provider's credentials and training.
- You have a right to know the clinical reasoning in providing and/or managing your care.
- You have the right to provide input regarding the information of your treatment plan.

Responsibilities

- You have the responsibility to provide truthful and accurate information.
- You have the responsibility to let your provider know of difficulties in following your treatment plan, or if you develop side effects of medication or any other changes in your condition or general medical health.
- You have the responsibility to follow instructions and your treatment plan including medications and to tell your provider of any medication changes including medication prescribed by other providers.
- You have the responsibility to treat those providing your care with respect.
- You should not take any actions that could harm providers, their employees or others.
- You have the responsibility to inform your provider of any thoughts of harming yourself or others.
- You have the responsibility to keep your appointments, and to call at least 24 hours in advance to cancel appointments.
- You have the responsibility to ask questions about your care.
- You have the responsibility to make regular and timely payments of fees and to notify us regarding any problems with paying fees.

I acknowledge receipt of the document entitled Patient's Rights and Responsibilities.

Patient

date

Witness

date
